TESTIMONIALS FROM MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA. UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA. CHAIRMAN'S OFFICE, May 25, 1878.

Sir.—I gives me pleasure to say that you have sent well-prepared young men to this institution. Your chool is noted for its good discipline and its tho-ough educational training. Very truly yours, JAMES F. HARRISON. UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, May 27, 1878. I regard the Kenmore School as standing deserv-edly in the first rank of high schools, in the several particulars of thorough teaching, judicious manage-ment, healthfulness, and accessibility. It has had an encouraging success, and deserves yet more. FRANCIS H. SMITH. Professor Natural Philosophy, University

University of Virginia, May 27, 1878.

Not only from my knowledge of Mr. Strode's high reputation, but also from personal acquaintance with him, and, above all, from intercourse in my own class-room with young men taught by him, I feel certain that the course of teaching at Kenmore is unusually solid and effective.

THOMAS R. PRICE, Professor of Greek.

University of Virginia, May 27, 1878.

The Kenmore High School has been in operation for several years. During this time a number of young men trained there have entered the University of Virginia. Many of these have sustained themselves well in the School of Latin of the University, and given evidence of faithful and thorough instruction. I do not hesitate to recommend the Kenmore High School as, in every respect, deserving the confidence and patronage of the public.

WILLIAM V. PETERS.

Professor of Latin, University of Virginia.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, May 30, 1878 The record made at the University by several students educated at Kenmore Academy reflects much credit on the conduct and instruction of that institution, which is regarded as amongst the best of the Virginia schools of high grade.

George Frederick Holmes.

Professor History, Literature, and Rhetoric.

University of Virginia, May, 1878.

My knowledge of Mr. H. A. Strode's abilities and attainments, his great success as a teacher, and the high standing which his pupils have obtained upon entering the University, justify me in recommending his High School most earnestly and cordially. SCHELE DE VERE, Professor of Modern Languages, &c.

FROM PATRONS OF THE SCHOOL. FROM PATRONS OF THE SCHOOL.

I have been well acquainted with the management discipline, and literary advantages of "Kenmore University High School" ever since its establishment. I am also personally well acquainted with Professor Strode, principal, and Professor Brock, assistant, and it gives me great pleasure to bear testimony to the high merits of that institution. In my opinion it has no superior in moral, gentlemanly, and literary advantages and training. I commend it with undoubting confidence to the patronage of parents and guardians. I may add patronage of parents and guardians. I may add that I have been a patron of the school for six years and expect to be a patron for many years more Samuel H. Henry, Judge Amberst county.

Dear Sir .- As a patron of your school I take pleasure in commending it in the highest terms for its many advantages, with none of which have I been more forcibly impressed than with the uniform and invariable propriety of your students and their gentlemanly deportment at all times and in all places, which I attribute to your judicious yet decided discipling. Hespectfully. TAYLOR BERRY. cipline. Respectfully,

I live in sight of "Kennore." I have watched its birth, its growth, and development. In its moral and gentlemanly teaching and influences, and in its literary and scientific advantages, it has, as a "high school," no superior.

road. ATCHISON, KANSAS, August 13 .- One of the boldest and most daring train-robberies that ever occurred in the West took place about 1:30 o'clock this morning, about a mile below Winthrop Junction, opposite this city. As train No. 4 on the Kansas City, St. Joseph and Council Bluffs railway, southbound, left Winthrop Junction, Conductor Brown noticed four men get on the platform between the baggage-car and first coach. At the usual time he left the baggage-car and started to go through the train. The first persons he met were the four men standing on the platform. As he stepped on the platform the leader pulled out two revolvers, and holding them at him orhands. As they entered the car from the dark end the first man they met was Griffith, the baggage-man, and he was ordered to who was in the baggage-car, was then reached and given the same order. Frank Baxter, express agent, was sitting in a chair in the lighted end of the car, his bills in his lap and the express-safe open not noticed the scene that was being endanger was a revolver thrust in his face, and he was ordered to hold up his hands. The leader of the gang then stepped up to the rope.

As the train slowed up the four men ers with their pistols, and disappeared in the darkness. No swearing was indulged in, and the entire work was done in less than five minutes. The train was filled with passengers, but none knew of the robbers had escaped. They were cool and determined, showing no signs of timidity, and went at work like old, experienced hands. None of them were masked.

The dangers of coaching in New Mexico are aptly illustrated by the appended exploits of a single road agent taken from the Messilla (N. M.) News. The Major Willard referred to is Major John P. Willard, son of the late Colonel W. T. Willard, of this city. The Major is well known here, and the description of how he and two companions were robbed by a single brigand will no doubt be read with interest by his many friends. The robbery occurred about six weeks ago. The account is as follows: One of the boldest roberies that has occurred in this section of the country for a long time happened this week. We interwarmer southerly winds, rising followed by viewed the passengers and gathered the fol-

"The coach was coming from Silver City to Messilla, having as passengers Major Willard, paymaster; Mr. Hathaway, his clerk, and Lieutenant West, Sixth cavalry, from Arizona, with Samuel Eckstein as driver. About 5:30 o'clock P. M., as the coach was on an open plain about a mile and a half this side of Deadman's arroyo and the other side of Cook's canon, a man, masked, suddenly jumped forward from behind some bushes which had concealed him, evelled his rifle at thedriver, and said : . LOCAL MATTERS.

THE RECAPTURE OF THE WHITE FEMALE CONVICTS-STATEMENT OF MR. ELKIN-AD-DITIONAL FACTS .- Mr. and Mrs. Elkin, at whose house, in Henrico county, Mme. Roussel and Jennie Beattie were captured on Tuesday, came to the office of this pape yesterday and made the following statemen concerning their knowledge of the women On Sunday morning a Mr. Baschen, a Swede shoemaker of this city, came to Mr. El kin's house and urged him to take as board ers a lady (Mrs. Langborne) and her daugi ter-in-law. His account was that th younger lady's husband had been drun and treated her very badly, and she wishe to escape from his presence for awhile Mr. Elkin had had acquaintance with Ba chen, and desiring to oblige him, after some hesitation consented to receive the ladies No board in advance was asked or paid. Baschen told Mrs. Elkin that she could have her money in advance if she desired, but, expressing no wish on the subject, he did not give it to ber.

Sunday night Baschen brought the women to Mr. Elkin's house. It was between 8 and 9 o'clock. They were dressed in black, and looked and behaved respectably, and no suspicion of their real characters entered the minds of Mr. or Mrs. Elkin. It appears that they went as far as Mrs. Beck's garden in a carriage; there dismissed the carriage, and made the remainder of the distance on foot, no doubt to keep the carriage-driver from knowing of their movements. Mrs. Elkin states that when the peniten-tlary-guards arrived at her house one of them asked, "Have you two women here?" Mrs. Elkin replied, "Yes." "Where are they?" they asked. "Upstairs," she replied; and they said, "Call them down, for they are escaped prisoners from the penitentiary." Mrs. Elkin went up-stairs and looked in the women's room, but the fugitives were not to be seen. Seeing the approach of the officers to the house they had concealed themselves. It was then that Mrs. Elkin said, "They are not here." A close search, in which the officers and Mr. Elkin joined, resulted in finding the two convicts concealed—the one in a box; the other behind a door.

Mr. and Mrs. Elkin further declare that Baschen assured them that "the ladies' were from Chesterfield: that they slept in their room, not in the graveyard, Sunday Johnston, 38; Young, 32. and Monday nights, and that they never had anything to do with Mrs. Roussel's husband in any way, and that he never was, to their knowledge, at their house. Mrs. Roussel was acting during the time when her true character was developed.

He represents that he had a brief acquaintance with Mme. Roussel, having visited the penitentiary with her husband to see her. Sunday morning he received a note street between Seventh and Eighth. He promptly responded, and, without giving the subject due thought, entered into their plans for concealment. He denied some of the details of Mr. Elkin's statement, but admitted the material points. It seems that he told his wife what he had done in the matter of aiding the two women in their conceal-ment. On Tuesday morning Mrs. Baseben read in the papers the account of their escape from the penitentiary. Apprehending that her husband might get into trou-Thus he in great part atoned for the wrong was told by them that they wore their black clothes out of their cells. Baschen came to Richmond from the North about nine months ago. His employer gives him a good character.

Taylor, the coroner, has returned from his visit to Suffolk, where he went to testify as an expert in the case of John B. Atkinson, charged with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Atkinson, on the 24th of June last. Mrs. Atkinson died under suspicious circumstances, and it was alleged that she had been given a dose of poison by her hus-band.
